TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Our correspondent P. Q. is informed, that the piece of poetry he supposed had never been published, was printed some years ago in a newspaper.

Phil. Opheli'ny, a Real Freethinker, and other articles which arrived too late for insertion in this number, shall be inserted in our next; as shall also the article of poetry, entitled, Sensibility.

"Arguments for and against Matrimony," are inadmissible.

We are informed, by two correspondents, that some articles of poetry signed, H.H.H., lately inserted in our pages, are plagiarisms; particularly, that "The Tear" is taken from Moore, with some slight alterations. It is a despicable species of fraud of which H.H.H. has been guilty. He is welcome to his triumph, for it cannot be considered as a disgrace, not to be so intimately acquainted with the poems of Thomas Moore, as not to be deceived. The letter of our correspondents, detecting the plagiarism, shall be inserted in the next number. They have our thanks.

ERRATA.
